CAIRO, Oct. 23.—(AP)—British fighter planes shot down six Axis aircraft over the Egyptian battle-front yesterday afternoon, many of them destroyed in bombing attacks on enemy aerodromes behind the front lines, a British official communique said today.

In addition, the bulletin said, four enemy raiders were shot down by the British fighters over the skies over Malta.

The communique also reported that a number of Axis planes on the ground were set on fire by heavy bombers which attacked the aerodrome at Matruh, Cairo, the night of Oct. 21.

British losses in these and other actions, which included attacks on Axis transport columns on the coastal road between Matruh and El Barrani, were six planes.

A United States desert air force of medium bombers and fighters hammered enemy landing fields yesterday, scoring at least five direct hits which grounded Axis aircraft on the ground.

One plane was shot down by United States fighters out of 20 Messerschmitt 109s which attacked an escorted American bomber formation, United States fighters and fighter-bombers also destroyed several enemy vehicles in attacks on transport along desert routes.

R.A.F. Directs Heavy Raid Against Italy

FACE MANY DANGERS
In the growing scale of British air attacks on German cities, the ministry's reference to "a strong and effective bombing campaign" is striking in the comparison may be seen in the German cities.

Besides the perils of distance and high mountains with heavy air bases on planes are the dangers of crossing Switzerland, and the intense anti-aircraft fire in the French cities of Vichy and Clermont.

The information that Turin also was being bombed and that the city was being used for supplying the German army in Italy.

The Italian communique, however, gave this description of the attack: "The German bombers, which were used in several waves with incendiary bombs, caused considerable damage to the city and its suburbs."

The city, which apart from extensive dock facilities known to be used for supplying the German army in Italy, is the home of the Ansaldo works, which produce aircraft parts and munitions.

It was considered probable, however, that the British bombers, Lancasters and Stirlings, capable of carrying one, two or even four tons of bombs on a round trip journey of 1,500 miles.

one fired toward the ground ricocheted and wounded a prisoner in the leg.

"This took place," he added, "but when the prisoners were taken to a guard post, they were put in a room and brutally assaulted an officer of the guard."

In another place, a hole was chopped through the roof and a fire hose used to help quell the disorder. "Considerable furniture was smashed and windows cracked," the announcement continued.

It said "no machine-gun fire was used nor was there any gas or any other form of gas resorted to throughout the trouble."

More skilled workers also had been ordered to the German-occupied zone, which lasted two days.

ALL QUIET NOW
Col. Ralston said "all has been quiet at the Bowmanville camp since Monday."

Shackling of officers and men of the German fighting forces held prisoners in Canada was carried out by the Dominion government as a reprisal against similar action by the Germans against Canadian prisoners.

"National defence authorities have been informed that the German government has announced that it has decided to release the prisoners of war held in the United Kingdom as a result of the attack on the German-occupied zone."

The original German statement said that the German prisoners held in 1288 non-commissioned officers and men, captured at Dieppe, had been released to the German-occupied zone.

Nazis Threaten Force to Get French Workers For Better Arms

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(AP)—President Roosevelt disclosed today that the United States government, in the light of battle experience, is cutting down on the volume of tanks and planes far as their number is concerned, emphasizing greater power and strength.

Production of tanks, he said, is falling short of the 4,000 goal set for 1942, yet the same amount of steel is going into these tanks.

Similarly, the president told a press conference, the goal of 50,000 planes this year would not be reached, but that there is greater emphasis on lifting power and range.

The warning statement, signed by the German commander for Greater Paris, followed the non-appearance of designated skilled workers at a railway station Wednesday for ordered departure.

More skilled workers also had been ordered to the German-occupied zone, which lasted two days.

Will use force
The German report said those who refused to work for the Germans "will expose themselves to forceful measures."

The German order apparently referred to the occupation zone. The Vichy chief of occupation zone, Pierre Laval, has warned French workers in both zones that if they refused to work to go to Germany, then the Germans would resort to compulsion.

At the same time, the president renewed his prophecy that it probably would be necessary to resort to compulsion on production of luxury and semi-luxury goods in order to make good the steel shortage.

RATION PLAN Bus Travel Is Restricted To Journeys of 50 Miles

OTTAWA, Oct. 23.—(CP)—Indirect rationing of bus travel through restrictions prohibiting the carrying of a bus passenger more than 50 miles in one continuous journey was announced tonight by the supply department.

The order, effective Nov. 1, does not apply where a "reasonable direct" form of public transportation is available.

The announcement said that under instructions from Transit Controller C. S. Gray, regional bus offices Wednesday mailed notices to bus operators. The instructions will not prevent the carrying of a passenger on a 50-mile round trip, but will prohibit the sale of a ticket for any continuous journey by bus for more than 50 miles, except on routes approved by the controller.

The letter to the operators reads: "The principle on which this order is based is that, in the light of the present emergency, and the drastic need to curtail the use of gasoline, rubber and labor, the most effective and necessary use of bus operation is for local service. Journeys in excess of 50 miles cannot be justified as being in the public interest."

In the past majority of instances, journeys in excess of 50 miles can be made by rail, even though they may entail some inconvenience and possibly extra expense. Where buses provide the only means of transport, it is where other means are hopelessly inconvenient, exceptions will be made to the general rule.

In earlier moves to conserve tires and gasoline reductions have been made in the number of buses on parallel routes and in many instances stopped entirely. On July 1, the saving had reached 75 million miles per year and will be considerably increased by the latest order, it is expected.

The War Today

BY JOHN COLLINGWOOD READE

One of the most serious problems of the present is that of securing unity of purpose with their allies. It was Napoleon who expressed his unbounded gratitude that he had no allies to worry about, only enemies. And there is a certain spark of truth in the old adage: "He travels fastest who travels alone."

It is scarcely true to say that Hitler has allies. He has associates and he has subordinates. The Japanese are associates, and they are anxious to exploit any opportunity they may create for them. They love him not at all, suspect him a great deal, and look forward to the day when they may have to shoot it out with him. Italy, together with Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria, is subordinate, although this group of nations ostensibly enjoys the status of free associates and partner with Germany in the New Order.

It is not always easy to get along with allies, but it is proving increasingly difficult for the Germans to get along with their vassals, although they are doing much more direct methods in dealing with vassals than allies can be in dealing with each other.

Hitler has always relied on exploiting other people's weaknesses. "Mein Kampf" is a curious mixture of childish immaturity and exceedingly shrewd diagnosis. Hitler's vision of the ideal world, under German hegemony, is crude and far beyond belief. But his comments on the frailties of man and the political defects of nations are the work of a very cunning and comprehending mind.

POLITICAL SABOTAGE

The German leader's hopes of world domination were pinned as much upon being able to accomplish the political disruption of his enemies within their national boundaries, and set them squabbling among themselves, as they were on winning decisive military victories. In any case, he knew those who were remaining disloyal to the German cause had been well prepared by political sabotage and international intrigue.

On our side of the struggle, we are confronted not by the work of the Axis political agents, but by the weaknesses which Hitler discerned in us and which he has been doing his best to exploit. Overcoming vanity, pride, and luxury, the ingrained habit of struggling for personal or group advancement and enervation it with owners. These things too, are water over the dam, and they are cited here to show that self-righteousness is not becoming in any of us, that the desire to claim credit for our own and discredit our associates must sooner or later, in a cleavage, and that we shall bring our drift apart on matters of principle as well as suffering the penalties of our own making. Our associates are applying the principles of war. The problem of uniting the United Nations is a most difficult and complex one, not much Hitler's problem, but holding his makeshift empire together.

Hitler cannot solve his problem, because it is insoluble. Over can be solved. It can only be solved by acquiring the most hardy acquired of human virtues, humility and charity.

REPORTS ARE CREDIBLE

These reflections were prompted largely by the very circumstantial reports of trouble in Nankai. The reports may be exaggerated, and in some instances undoubtedly are. Nevertheless, they are credible because what we are told is happening is not inevitably likely to be possible to overlook and subdue people by force and hold them in subjection for a short while. The Germans were counting on a short period, believing that they could win through to peace and establish themselves in an imperishable position in two or three years at most.

Now that it is apparent that they cannot, and those whom they have oppressed begin to realize that their lot is not in the nature of a brief nightmare from which they will awake, but will be progressively more unbearable for an indefinite time, the technique is no longer effective. The tyrant has become corrupted and debauched with his on cruelty, and the oppressed have summoned their reserves of spiritual strength and a fund of ingenuity with which to confound the beasts who rule them.

CONTINENT REVOLTS

It is said that two million Frenchmen banded into a secret underground organization are prepared to resist the labor mobilization laws of the Vichy Government and dissent has flared into open rebellion, and an Italian Alpine regiment has mutinied in Gorizia when ordered to the Russian front, probably to fight in the Caucasus. The mountain tribesmen of Albania, galvanized by the yoke of Italy and stirred by the example of their Serbian neighbors, have taken up their arms and renewed the battle for their freedom.

Serbs and Croats are still fighting successfully against German and Italian forces of occupation, and the Italian government is taking valuable manpower and materials to fortify the northeastern boundaries of Italy against the ravages of infuriated Balkan neighbors. This is no way for the Axis powers to win the war.

The accompanying map shows the area of greatest dissension in Southeastern Europe, and marks the places where disturbances have broken out.

Churchmen Shun Dedication of Commando Dagger

VANCOUVER, Oct. 22.—(CP)—Rev. St. Francis Heston, bishop of the Anglican diocese of New Westminster, said today he had refused to dedicate a Commando dagger at a public ceremony in connection with the third Victoria Cross ceremony held last Sunday, and Rev. J. B. Baker, former moderator of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, said no Presbyterian clergy were at the ceremony and "we asked our congregations to attend such a service held on Sunday."

The statements were made when asked to comment upon the declaration before the Montreal and Ottawa board of the Presbyterian church at Montreal Wednesday by Rev. E. H. Johnson, missionary secretary, that there was "some uneasiness in certain pulpits last Sunday when ministers were asked to dedicate the dagger being used in this Victory Loan campaign."

ONCE more the Alberta junior football final has rolled around and the R.C.A.F. squad, Edmonton Junior Rugby League's entry, gives every promise of being able to put up stout battles tomorrow and the following Saturday against Calgary Cadets.

Whether the Airmen will be able to make this in a row the local junior loop is another question, but one thing certain is Coach Jake Jamieson's boys will be in there pitching to keep in fact the record of the Maple Leafs in holding the Cadets out of the championship for two years.

Couch Jamieson made a smart move in adding Don Blue to the series opener in Calgary tomorrow. The E.A.C. "booster" should be able to mount the old leather over for a few points if he can get within 30 or 35 yards or so from the Cadets' posts.

MURPHY, HALL AT QUARTER
THE "M" Depot member plans to use Ian Murphy and Bud Hall in the quarterback spot. Runner Mitchell Neale and fullback should get plenty tough for the Cadets to get their place in motion.

And if Calgary has any caliber to compare with Don Horton, the Mustangs, sure, they that will be something else. Hinks and Hutchinson will also be on the job and with Johnny Black's tackling the Airmen should get along alright, especially when the center contains a good supply of alternates.

For the game here next week, it is just possible some new men might make their appearance in the

Engineers Advance to Inter-Fac Final

Meet Aggies Now for Grid Loop Title

By Bill Clark

Engineers won the right to enter the final against the undefeated Aggies for the Inter-Faculty League title when they trounced Med-Pharm-Dent 7-1 at Varsity Stadium on Thursday afternoon in the sudden-death game to determine second place berth.

The score was indicative of the play. It was close, but the slide-rule manipulators fully deserved their victory over the Medicos. Their line was infinitely better; they blocked well, and charged fearfully throughout all four quarters. Their big break came when Ryki caught a long pass in the third quarter.

The opening quarter provided a number of thrilling plays. Ball-handling was accurate, and the cold. A 30-yard pass by Lud Ryki, an 18-yard run by Panchyphing got the Engineers out of a big hole. A 30-yard pass by Panchyphing got the Engineers out of a big hole.

Sensation of that quarter was Panchyphing's great 40-yard run behind splendid blocking. The Engineers garnered one point as a result of Senter's deadline kick.

The Meds scored it up in the second when Ossie Gehan booted to Cudley of Engineers. Hit hard by several Meds, he fumbled and the ball rolled out of touch. Engineers forged ahead again when Alex R. Chaffin, who matched Gehan's kicking through-out, lifted one to the deadline to make the score read 21-0 for the Calculators.

The Engineers started to roll in the third. Cudley ran back a Med kick to his own 45-yard line. Senter, on the next play, threw a long 30-yard pass to Ryki, who coming in from left end, made a spectacular running catch.

Senter, a left-hander, heaved another pass intended for Ryki, but this time, although Lud made a frantic attempt, he could not hold the ball. Engineers, however, with Panchyphing porting the luggage, gained a first down, with four yards to touch. Senter plowed through to the one-yard line and Glen Hutton dove over right tackle for the touchdown. That was the last score of the game as Johnny Mayhew missed the convert. The score remained at 21-0.

In the fourth quarter Medley and Baker of the Meds fought their way for 20 yards on three plays. Their thrust was halted when Panchyphing intercepted Gehan's forward and ran it back ten yards. Senter's kick was blocked by Satorne, Med center.

Westgen Whips Scona 21-0

Victoria Junior Gridders Hand Eastwood First Loss

Victoria Hi six-man junior football squad put a crimp in the three-game winning streak of the Eastwood gridders by whipping them 17-1 at Clarke Stadium yesterday. At Westgen, the home team trounced the witless Scona aggregation 21-0.

The results of these games sends Vic shooting into the first place tie with Eastwood, while Westgen are in second slot and Scona in last place. Standing out in the Redmen's win over their hitherto undefeated opponents was Bill Ingram who returned to his club after a lengthy absence. He was responsible for two touchdowns and turned in strong defensive game.

INGRAM GOES OVER
The winners started off with a rush and it wasn't long before they had moved the ball to the looser's 10. Then Ingram sent a receiver crashing his way over. Bill Mayson kicked the convert.

Vic continued to force the play in the second stanza and about halfway through they were rewarded for their efforts when Ingram on a wide sweep around the left end raced 25 yards for a touchdown.

Ron Lane increased his team's margin by another point just after play was resumed in the third stanza when he roused Baker. Eric Geddes minutes later put his club's lead at 17 when he ploughed over from the opposition five yard line.

HERON SCORES TOUCHDOWN
Red Heron speedily increased back put his club back into the game just before the teams changed ends as he knifed his way around the right end for a 15-yard touchdown. A Baker in Gilmour pass added the extra point.

The losers fought the play in the final quarter in an attempt to close the gap, but despite their heroic efforts they had to settle for 3 points and this came about as follows:

Under existing playing arrangements, the winning teams in both Edmonton and Calgary are permitted to add players from other clubs in the same league for the final series.

Calgary this year will again be drawing from the other teams and according to Ed. Rorvig as reported Wednesday's Herald, the choices lie between Allen Hammond, Bill Parker and Verne Graham of the Air Cadets, and Tommy Morrison and Jimmy Morris of the Navy Cadets.

Instructs Goalenders

Patrick Takes to Blades First Time in Three Years

WINNIPEG, Oct. 23.—(CP)—Lester Patrick, manager of New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, donned skates for the first time in three seasons Thursday, selected a stick and took to the ice at the club's training camp here.

The silver-haired boss devoted almost an hour giving pointers to his goalenders—Steve Buttski and Jack McGill—echoing them in how to cope with every type of assault that might be launched at their net.

Buttski has seven years amateur experience behind him, and last season. McGill was with New York Rangers of the Eastern United States amateur circuit last season.

"Both Buttski and McGill are excellent prospects," Patrick said after the workout. "It is strange that I have never seen amateur goalenders who received any coaching."

"Fortunately those with real talent get by," Patrick added. "But you see young fellows with a lot of ability who can be greatly improved with just a few suggestions."

Another Ranger regular, Walter (Babe) Pratt, hockey defenceman, came to terms with Patrick Thursday. He signed his 1942-43 contract, having two regular, Alf Pike and Clint Smith, still unsigned.

Pratt, former Knickerbocker star, still will in the Ranger style of play. He plays a strong defence game and is a first class rusher. Although he only scored four goals last season, rushes which he started set up the play for 24 times.

planned, and management representatives added that a loss of one day was expected for each day of the meet.

Bucky Harris Tries to Entail

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Stanley Raymond (Bucky) Harris, who resigned as manager of Washington Senators baseball team Sept. 20, has applied for enlistment in the army specialist corps.

Harris, 45, said he passed his physical examination and subsequent tests he expected to be assigned to the corps' welfare and recreation division.

Arizonans Get First Peep at Game of Cricket

MESA, Ariz., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Up until now, cricket, to most Arizonans, was merely the name of a pesky insect that gnaws holes in a guy's best suit and attempts to cover up the crime with innocent chirps.

There were more cradled westerners were aware that Englishmen played a game of rather vague description called cricket. A cup of tea somehow seemed associated with home plate—big pardon, wicket.

That sort of misunderstanding it all part. Or is it?

Cricket, as a sport, came to Arizona Wednesday night. Not only was the match the local baseball park and the first cricket of the 300 spectators had seen, but it was believed to be the first ever played under lights anywhere.

Cadets of the Royal Air Force from nearby Falcon Field shed their sky blue flying uniforms and donned appropriate cricket raiment for an exhibition between English and Scots teams.

The English won, 103 to 71, in one inning of thirty overs.

American spectators were politely restrained throughout the proceedings. They followed the multiplicity of scoring in a puzzled manner until a booming drive over the fence brought them to their feet with shouts of a home run.

They retired to their seats when the announcer advised that the batsman had just been "out," but "boundary." Anyway, it was good for his.

The Falcon field team commander added much light to the attractions of cricket when he explained: "In England the playing field is of beautiful green grass, with trees line the boundaries. There are beautiful women wearing those floppy hats. And we have tea."

That must be cricket.

Canadians Score 6-2 Victory Over Boston Bruins

CORNWALL, Ont., Oct. 23.—(CP)—Montreal Canadiens scored a decisive 6-2 victory over their National Hockey League rivals, Boston Bruins in a wide-open exhibition game here last night. More than 2,000 fans turned out to see a hard-fought pre-season tilt.

Gordie Drillon moved into his old Toronto Maple Leaf form to drive two goals past Frankie Brimacombe and lead the maroon-clad night. Other Canucks scorers were Maurice Richard, Elmer Lach, Tony Denvers and Murph Chamberlain. Harvey Jackson and Buzz Bell shot the Boston score, with Bill Cowley setting up both plays.

Canadians were at their best in the third period when they drove in four goals and appeared to have an edge in condition on the Bruins.

Undecided About Winter Campaigns

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Whether there will be tournament golf in the United States this winter still was doubtful Thursday night after officials of the Professional Golfers Association had spent five hours discussing their wartime problems.

Two things are certain, President K. Dudley said after the session: (1) there will be no winter tour, as far as he is concerned, unless it is on a definite war relief program; and (2) there will be no tour unless it has the explicit approval of the federal government.

"As a matter of fact, we probably will not reach a decision until after our annual meeting Nov. 9 at Chicago," Dudley said. "Personally, I am not convinced there should be a tour unless we could guarantee a sum of say $100,000 to war relief."

Drillon Should Help Irvin, Claims Canadians Will Show Vast Improvement

BY HAROLD ATKINS
MONTREAL, Oct. 23.—(CP)—Three years ago Montreal Canadiens embarked on a plan to infuse young blood into their National Hockey League club and officials advised fans not to expect a Stanley Cup threat but to look forward to a fast, fighting team.

A lot of hockey has passed by the board since then and as the club prepares for the start of the 1942-43 campaign, the word among the Canadians is that they now are out of the elementary stage and the rest of the league will have to consider them before cleaning off a shelf for the "dimwits."

Perhaps that sounds like wishful thinking for a club that hasn't won above sixth place in the first standing the past two seasons but let Coach Dick Irvin explain it: "We have a more experienced and better balanced team and rookies who started with me three years ago are now reaching the peak of their careers."

The silver-haired mentor has reserved third spot in the standings for his Canadians and thinks his club should finish only behind Detroit Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs.

UP TO LEAF
Probably the one man Irvin is counting on most to help fulfill his prediction is Gordie Drillon, former sharpshooting right-winger who came to the Canadiens in a deal with Toronto this fall.

Gordie's driving will win us a lot of games like those we lost last season to one or two goals margins and unless something unexpected happens, I think he'll be good for 25 goals."

Irvin said he would not know the exact mixture of his club until the opening game against Boston here Oct. 23 but he would be carrying 17 players.

The sale of Bert Gardiner to Chicago Hawks was assured Paul Bibeault of the zooling assignment.

BENOIT WITH BLAKE
Up front, Drillon will likely be centred by Buddy O'Connor with Ray Gettiffe on left wing. "Ray Blake will play the second line with Joe Benoit again working with him on the right flank and either 'Murph' Chamberlain or Bert Carragher on the left hands."

For a third line Elmer Lach and Tony Denvers, who missed most of last season due to injuries, will work at centre and right wing respectively, while the third man will be either Stu Smith, or Maurice Richard.

Canadians seem set on defence with Cliff Goupile, "Butch" Bouchard and Jack Partland available from last year's lineup. Then there is Leo Lamoureux, last season with Washington, and veteran Charlie Sands, who has been showing up well since being converted from a right winger.

Stuart Smith Barred Selective Service Officials Clarify Statement Re Pros

OTTAWA, Oct. 23.—(CP)—Selective service authorities Thursday placed professional sport in a "comparatively low labor priority" and made it clear professional hockey players are going to work where their services will be of the most value, regardless of contracts.

The position was defined in a statement clarifying an announcement made Sept. 15 by Canadian and United States selective service officials on professional sport, applying in Canada particularly to the National Hockey League.

Thursday's statement defined the policy in these words: "If a person engaged in work of low priority and there is no vacancy in work of high labor priority for which he is particularly skilled, he may be given a permit to play professional sport."

STOPS CANUCK ROOKIE
An immediate result of this policy is that Stuart Smith, now employed as a machinist in an Ottawa war plant, from fulfilling a contract to play with Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League.

The cases of three other players, who were not named, are under review, the statement said. Decision on these players will be based on the work they have been performing in the off-hockey season.

In Vancouver, Paul Kean, Detroit Red Wings defenceman, said the Vancouver Selective Service Board had turned down his application for a permit to leave his war-industry job to join the United States to play hockey.

The whole subject of work permits for professional hockey players.

President Shifts Army-Navy Tilt To Annapolis

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(AP)—One of the super-species of United States college football, the Army-Navy game, was whittled down to small-town proportions Thursday night when President Roosevelt decided it would be played at Annapolis, Md., instead of Philadelphia.

Furthermore, he directed that only residents of Annapolis, a town of some 10,000, could get tickets so that outsiders would not wear out tires and burn up gasoline getting to the game.

The annual classic in Philadelphia has packed approximately 100,000 spectators into the Municipal Stadium. The Annapolis Stadium seats 22,000. Presumably the teams will meet on the scheduled date Nov. 25.

Not even the Army Cadet Corps is going to be allowed to see the game, since the President said only members of the team and essential officials could make the trip from West Point to Annapolis, home of the Naval Academy.

Me! Ott Sticks As Giant Manager

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Horace Stinson, owner of New York Giants, came to New Orleans this week to play golf with Mel Ott, manager of the Giants, and out of the visit came the word that Ott will stay on as Giant manager for another year or as long as he wishes.

"We're going to train again as members of the executive Cyril Paquin, president, Charles Stanger, vice-president, Fay Dodds, secretary-treasurer.

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE Dark Discovery's Victory Will Long Be Remembered

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(BUP)—Dark Discovery's victory in a "stolen race" will be remembered for years by turf followers of the nation—long after the excuse for Alab and Shut Out are forgotten.

They call Dark Discovery's victory "stolen" because this long-shot chestnut filly registered one of the racing season's major upsets by winning the Gallant Fox handicap, closing feature of the program at Jamaica. She won it while the Alab and Shut Out jockeys were watching each other.

This victory by an outside four-year-old filly leaves the race for the three-year-old honors wide open. Alab came in second in the field of six seven-year-olds.

Shut Out finished fourth. In other words the official ending of the mile and a half-fifth-century contest placed the horses as follows: Dark Discovery, Alab, Maurice Shut Out, Bollingbroke and Paul P.

Thousands of dollars were lost on the Gallant Fox handicap by bettors who were positive that Alab or Shut Out would win.

They favored Alab because that bay colt owned by Mrs. Al Sabath had beaten Shut Out once and had triumphed twice over Whirlaway, mighty four-year-old. Meanwhile there was robust support for Shut Out who had beaten Alab in the Kentucky Derby, while losing in the Preakness. Wednesday's result left the score at two victories and two losses each for Alab and Shut Out.

Kept at temperatures below 38 degrees Fahrenheit, white potatoes tend to become sweet.

Commands Unit Roper Charges Conservative Party "Corps"

"Fantastic is the only description I can think of as applicable to the attack made by National Conservative Convention chairman, H. R. Miller, K.C., on the C.C.F. party, or to describe its aims," Elmer E. Roper, co-operative Commonwealth Federation member for Edmonton, stated Friday.

He was referring to statements made by Mr. Miller at a meeting of the Edmonton Women's Conservative Association held Wednesday at which Mr. Miller repeated his charge that the C.C.F. program meant the introduction of "national socialism" in Canada.

Full text of Mr. Roper's statement follows:

"I suppose anyone engaged in the unpleasant task of trying to reassemble a very dead corpse will be known an occasional burst of humor.

"FANTASTIC

"'Fantastic' is the only word I can think of to describe Mr. Miller's description of the C.C.F. and its aims. Of course his attack is a very good example of the kind of thing which the voters to the Port of Last Hope are determined to restore in Canada.

"Every time Mr. Miller and his colleagues put the word 'corps' in the headlines with such preposterous attacks, they not only make themselves ridiculous, but they actually strengthen the C.C.F. and thus make more for the restoration of the Port of Hope.

"I suppose as Mr. Miller visits various parts of Canada and finds how hopeless the situation is for the C.C.F. he will be forced to give up the idea of his desperate publicity for the C.C.F."

U.S. Firm's Plans Remain Uncertain

Plans of the contracting firm of Bechtel, Price and Callaghan, United States contractors, regarding the erection of an office building at the northeast corner of Jasper Avenue and 112 street, have been uncertain Friday morning, according to an executive of the firm.

The mechanical equipment was again at work at the Jasper Avenue-112 street site, but whether it was engaged in excavation work or leveling off the property prior to the abandonment of the project could not be ascertained.

Mayor John W. Fry, and other members of the city commission board stated that they had received no notification from the company that the building plan had been abandoned.

It is understood that the firm is considering the purchase of property with buildings on it; that could be converted to office space at low cost and in less time than a new building could be erected.

Plan 'State of Emergency' During Air Raid Aert 3-4:30 p.m. Next Sunday

A "state of emergency" will exist in the city of Edmonton, Sunday, Oct. 25, between 3 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. when an air raid alert will be "called out" by A.R.P. forces acting in conjunction with 2nd (Reserve) Battalion, Edmonton Regiment. It was announced Friday by Capt. A. J. Huff, chief air raid warden. The purpose of this alert is to test communications and available equipment; to practice co-operation with the military forces and to permit the public to witness A.R.P. in action. This will be the only time the public will be allowed on the streets.

Air Raid Chief

For their own safety, citizens are urged to conform with rules and warnings, and particularly to observe the regulations that have been set up.

Persons are especially warned against crossing or running into the streets as A.R.P. traffic will be travelling at emergency speeds.

All vehicles except mail cars, milk wagons, and cars bearing A.R.P. stickers or placards must turn on to side streets and remain parked during the entire alert. No parking will be permitted on any of the main thoroughfares.

Persons must not use either the high level or low level bridges.

All pedestrian traffic must be cleared from the sidewalks during a major incident in order to allow the members of the A.R.P. to move as efficiently as possible, and the public must obey all instructions issued by the warden and police, Capt. Huff stated.

Gettling Around with Jack DeLong

The story about the flustered bridegroom who has forgotten the ring has been told so many times it's pretty hackneyed. But yesterday we got the lowdown on a true story known to the bridegroom who neglected the all-important business of securing a marriage license. The reason for the neglect was straight in the fact we got the story from a highly interested and considerably embarrassed party to the whole business, the boat man.

How Much Cash Aid Should Children Get?

This Problem, Which Gives Parents Headaches, Is Still Unsolved; Take Middle Road—Not Too Much and Not Too Little

One of the problems over which parents lose sleep and acquire headaches is the question of how much financial help they should give their children. In the face of the other complexities of human relationships and responsibilities, the definite solution of the matter has been made, because the answer depends on so many different circumstances that make what would be the right thing to do in one case, the wrong thing in another.

Naturally there are two different schools of thought on the subject. There are the tight-fisted parents who believe in bringing children up the hard way, who never give their youngsters a penny with which to buy a lollipop; who put them to work as soon as the law permits, and hold on to their money with a grip that only death loosens.

In his recent biography one of our famous authors told of an incident which occurred when he was twelve years old. He called him into his office and presented him with an allowance for every cent he had spent upon him, including the fee of the doctor who attended his mother when she was born.

This is probably the all-time record of a parent who held that even a father should be made to stand on his own feet, but the fact is that of many who blight their children's lives and often ruin them by refusing to give them the help they are amply able to give.

Many a bright child who has desired the education that would permit them to make great successes of their lives has been held back by parents who were too tight-fisted to allow their children to go to school. Many a man and woman who go through life handicapped by some affliction that has been passed to them by their parents, have been helped by the fact that their parents would not pay for their education. In one case I personally knew, a promising young boy who was rich, whose father would not pay for the treatment the doctors assured him would save the boy's life.

HELP TOO LATE

The parents' aim in such cases is to help their children get their money when the parents die, but often the help comes too late. Once heard a woman who had had a hard and meagre childhood, say: "If my father had given me, when I needed to get a hundred, the amount of what he has left me in his will, it would have changed my life. He said he was going to give me a hundred for every penny I had spent on my longed for pretty clothes. I saw me cook and wash and scrub and scrubbed until I was broken down, nervous wreck. Now my father can buy me nothing that I want."

To the other school of thought on the subject belong the parents who ruin their children by overindulgence. They give their children money and the things that money buys. They place no responsibilities upon them. And they bring up the horde of weak, selfish, irresponsible, drunken playboys and girls who fill our divorce courts and sanitariums, and are a curse to themselves and their families.

Between these two extremes of the parents who give their children too much, and those who give too little lies a middle road which, it seems to me, is the right path for parents to take. I believe that parents should give to their children an allowance with the understanding that they should do it when the children need it most.

A monthly allowance of a few dollars to a daughter who is struggling along on a meagre budget, and putting a thousand or so into a bank for a son, may save them years of later struggle and privation and open the door of prosperity to them. I even think parents should finance their children's marriages, when all that stands between the fulfillment of love's dream and a very real and useful thrill has gone out of it, is a little love.

But the greatest mistake parents ever make is in impoverishing themselves for their children. They should be liberal, but not prodigal, for when we grow old our best friend is our pocketbook, and we have something to give and a will to make and a father and mother who have helped themselves have no more to give.

The difference between a well-kept guest and a dependent. The right sort of children do not wish their parents to deprive themselves of the joy of financial independence. Against the greedy children, who cannot wait for their parents to die to get what they have, fathers and mothers should guard them as well as against the other crooks.

So, in the end, the question of how much parents should help their children narrows itself down to how much the parents are able to give, and what they are going to do with the money when they need it.

Please tell me the etiquette of soup drinking.

Answer—Soup is served with either a dessert sized spoon, a large tablespoon or a round bowl.

Spoon. Dip into the soup, away from you, and never reach the plate to get the last bit.

If the soup is served in a cup-like a couple of size with the spoon, and then you may pick the cup up, and drink the soup.

A small round bowl of soup is served with clear soup.

"Enough Women"

HALIFAX, Oct. 22.—(CP)—A man on trial here for bigamy yesterday testified he had "laid enough of women—I don't want to see any more."

He said his predicament was the fault of his second wife, who he said, "already had three husbands."

He proposed to him, followed him to another town and there supplied the license, the money, and led him to a minister.

Home from the Wars, Dieppe Fighters Get Heroes' Welcome in Montreal

Canada's Battle-Tried Warriors Exuberantly Happy on Return to Homeland Following Great Assault on French Coast City

Shown here is Lt.-Col. Dollard Menard, D.S.O., of Quebec City, who is being greeted by his wife at Bonaventure Station, Montreal. He arrived from overseas earlier in the day. They and their son Jacques are shown. Col. Menard and his companions in the party of Dieppe heroes were given a royal Welcome in Montreal.

"Give me a lot of phones so I can call all my friends," joyfully exclaimed Pte. L. Taylor of Windsor (top). "It's great to be back, but we hope we can get another chance at the Germans" was the joint message of Pte. Herbert Smith, of Montreal (Black Watch) shown at left below, and Sgt. Harold Sileos, of Kennedy, Sask. (South Saskatchewan Regiment). Both were wounded.

When the Scottish and the Irish got together in Montreal today it was a real affair. Here are Sgt.-Major George Gouk of Winnipeg (left) and Sgt.-Major James Murphy of Toronto agreeing upon their joy at being home again. They both won Military Medals at Dieppe.

Whatever it was that Capt. Ronald B. Murray of Kingston told the Hon. C. G. Power, Associate Minister of National Defence, it must have been amusing, judging from the Hon. Mr. Power's (left) chuckle.
